ReDirect is a community led initiative that is supported by the resources of the Calgary Police Service in collaboration with community agencies and other law enforcement agencies. The referral will be considered using a number of evaluative processes to determine if the client meets the parameters of the program. If successfully referred to the ReDirect program the clients case information will be reviewed by a multi-agency panel consisting of social agencies and community based support groups and services. The multi agency panel will develop a comprehensive support plan to assist individuals who are identified as being vulnerable to being drawn into violent extremism. The support plan may include the client taking part in other existing programs within the Calgary Police Service, community based programs, or a combination of both.

Information shared with ReDirect will be kept confidential, and only shared with support groups and services with the permission of the client to develop a support plan. However, if Information comes to light when working with a client of criminal acts that have occurred, or are about to occur, a decision will be made as to whether it is appropriate to notify investigators in the interest of preserving life and or property.

This personal information is being collected under the authority of section 33(c) of the FOIP Act RSA 2000 and will be used by the City of Calgary and the Calgary Police Service to determine eligibility for ReDirect. The information will also be used to administer and evaluate ReDirect, and for contact purposes regarding other programs or services for which the referred person may be qualified. All information collected by the City of Calgary is protected by the provisions of the Freedom of Information Privacy Act RSA 2000. You may direct questions about the collection, use or disclosure of your personal information by this program by calling the ReDirect Coordinator at 403-428-8357
